

Dave studied Architecture at the University of Bath and Oxford Brookes University.

Through his love of photography, Dave has always had a keen interest in the interaction of light and architecture and joined Speirs + Major in 2010 to further this interest.

Since joining he has contributed to a number of significant award-winning projects including the Maggie's Centre in Lanarkshire which won best Lighting Design at the Scottish Design Awards in 2015, Gardermoen Airport in Norway and Shenzhen Airport in China.

Dave is currently working on several key projects in London, Miami and Singapore, and is also involved in the mixed-use development for New World Centre in Hong Kong.

Dave lives in Edinburgh with his wife and two children.
