

Tom completed a BA in Industrial Design & Technology with a Diploma of Professional Studies at Loughborough University before moving to Mexico for 5 years. Whilst there, he worked as a computer modeller for Render Solutions, whose clients included Pixar, Disney and Elba Yachts. His role progressed to not only include modelling, but lighting, rendering, animation and post-production through which he developed a sensitivity to and respect for light.

Tom decided that he wanted to further explore and understand the artistic and emotional effect of well-designed lighting and made the move back to England to pursue lighting design. He joined Speirs + Major in August 2012, where he has since assisted on such projects as the Sydney International Convention, Exhibition and Entertainment Centre in Australia, elements of the Mumbai International Airport in India and The National Memorial Arboretum, UK.

Tom is fluent in Spanish and is a world champion martial artist. He recently married a Mexican wife, and they have a daughter together.
